For the period ended June 30, 2018

Canadian Equity Fund

NBI Jarislowsky Fraser Select Canadian Equity Fund

Notes on forward-looking statements

This report may contain forward-looking statements concerning the Fund, its future performance, its strategies or prospects or about future events or circumstances. Such forward-looking statements include, among others, statements with respect to our beliefs, plans, expectations, estimates and intentions. The use of the expressions "foresee", "intend", "anticipate", "estimate", "assume", "believe" and "expect" and other similar terms and expressions indicate forward-looking statements.

By their very nature, forward-looking statements imply the use of assumptions and necessarily involve inherent risks and uncertainties. Consequently, there is a significant risk that the explicit or implicit forecasts contained in these forward-looking statements might not materialize or that they may not prove to be accurate in the future. A number of factors could cause future results, conditions or events to differ materially from the objectives, expectations, estimates or intentions expressed in such forward-looking statements. Such differences might be caused by several factors, including changes in Canadian and worldwide economic and financial conditions (in particular interest and exchange rates and the prices of other financial instruments), market trends, new regulatory provisions, competition, changes in technology and the potential impact of conflicts and other international events.

The foregoing list of factors is not exhaustive. Before making any investment decision, investors and others relying on our forward-looking statements should carefully consider the foregoing factors and other factors. We caution readers not to rely unduly on these forward-looking statements. We assume no obligation to update forward-looking statements in the light of new information, future events or other circumstances unless applicable legislation so provides.

Management Discussion of Fund Performance

Results of Operations

For the six-month period ended June 30, 2018, the NBI Jarislowsky Fraser Select Canadian Equity Fund's Advisor Series units returned 1.26% compared to 1.95% for the Fund's benchmark, the S&P/TSX Capped Composite Index (CAD). Unlike the benchmark, the Fund's performance is calculated after fees and expenses. Please see the Past Performance section for the returns of all of the Fund's series, which may vary mainly because of fees and expenses.

The Fund's net asset value dropped by 2% over the period, from $108 million as at December 31, 2017 to $106 million as at June 30, 2018.

Certain series of the Fund, as applicable, may make distributions at a rate determined by the manager. This rate may change from time to time. If the aggregate amount of distributions in such series exceeds the portion of net income and net realized capital gains allocated to such series, the excess will constitute a return of capital. The manager does not believe that the return of capital distributions made by such series of the Portfolio have a meaningful impact on the Fund's ability to implement its investment strategy or to fulfill its investment objective.

In January, the Bank of Canada hiked its benchmark rate by 25 basis points (bps) to 1.25% – a move that was widely expected by the market given the strong economic data released during the fourth quarter of 2017. Economic data released in the first quarter were also robust, particularly the unemployment rate, which was coming off its lowest point in 40 years as it stayed below 6% all the way through May.

While renegotiations of the North American Free Trade Agreement (NAFTA) proved to be a hot topic during the first half of 2018, concerns gradually subsided in the months that followed. The trade conflict between Canada and the U.S. intensified after the Trump Administration decided to go through with its planned tariffs on steel and aluminum at the beginning of June. It didn't take long for Canada to retaliate, however, as it announced on the same day that it would hit back with retaliatory tariffs of up to $16.6 billion on steel, aluminum and other goods.

Meanwhile, the price of WTI crude oil had a rollercoaster run in the first quarter, eventually ending at $64.91, up about 7.5%. Crude oil spiked during the quarter with WTI prices peaking at $74 per barrel on the last day of the quarter amid plummeting Venezuelan production and the U.S.'s decision to withdraw from the Iran nuclear deal.

Overall, the S&P/TSX Index increased by roughly 2% in the first half of the year. The top performers during the first half of the year were by far the Information Technology sector, up by over 22%, followed by Industrials, which gained 6.6%. On the other hand, the index's biggest drags were Utilities and Telecommunication Services names, down 6.2% and 5% respectively.

Under these circumstances, the Fund underperformed its benchmark. For the period, the Fund's selection effect lagged performance. Conversely, having an overweight position within the Information Technology sector helped contribute positive returns. Strong contribution also came from names such as Microsoft, CGI Group, and Descartes Systems.

The portfolio is currently overweight Information Technology, Consumer Staples, Health Care and Industrials while being underweight Materials, Energy and Utilities.

Recent Developments

A handful of positions were initiated over the period with names like Unilever and AIA Group Ltd. The Fund exited Capital One Financial, Jean Coutu Group Inc. and Nestlé over the same period.

The portfolio manager's approach has been, and continues to be, somewhat different. While he looks at both cyclical and secular trends as inputs to his decision-making process, he also uses information gathered from numerous company interviews and expected returns for each holding generated by his models to give him insight into when it is time to reduce exposure to an asset class, a sector, and even an individual company. This is an ongoing process. As it stands, the indicators he follows are pointing to a higher risk of recession today compared to 12 months ago. Economic fundamentals remain reasonably robust; however, the continued strength of the U.S. dollar is making it more challenging for many exporting countries to compete. Yield curves, especially in the U.S. are close to flat. Similarly, the overall level of risk for the markets (trade, geopolitics, interest rates, national politics) has increased. All of this points towards taking a cautious approach.

<sup>(*)</sup> Excluding sales commissions paid on the Advisor Series and Series T5 with the low sales charge option, which are not included in the management fees.

Past Performance

The performance of each series of the Fund presented below are calculated as of December 31 of each year. They assume that all distributions made in the periods shown were reinvested in additional securities and does not take into account sales, redemption charges, distributions, or optional charges that would have reduced returns. Past performance of a series of the Fund does not necessarily indicate how it will perform in the future.

Annual Returns

The bar charts indicate the performance for each the Fund's series in existence greater than one year during the years shown, and illustrate how the performance has changed from year to year. They show, in percentage terms, how much an investment made on January 1 (or made commencing from the start of the series) would have grown or decreased by December 31 of that year, or by June 30, as applicable.

<sup>(4)</sup> This information is derived from the Fund's Annual Audited Financial Statements and Interim Unaudited Financial Statements. The net assets per unit presented in the financial statements might differ from the net asset value calculated for fund pricing purposes. The differences are explained in the notes to the financial statements.

<sup>(2)</sup> Net assets and distributions are based on the actual number of units outstanding at the relevant time. The increase or decrease from operations is based on the average number of units outstanding over the accounting period. For the Advisor Series, the detailed calculation of the total Increase (Decrease) from Operations as at December 31, 2015 has been adjusted to reflect the proper allocation between the following items: Total revenue, Total expenses, Realized gain (losses) and/or Unrealized gain (losses). It is a non-material correction related to a programming error in the ratio calculation.

<sup>(3)</sup> Distributions were paid in cash or reinvested in additional units of the Fund, or both. For Series F and E, the distribution from dividends and from capital gains as at December 31, 2014 have been adjusted to reflect a non-material correction related to a transposition errors.

<sup>(6)</sup> Management expense ratio is based on total expenses including sales taxes for the accounting period indicated (excluding commission, other portfolio transaction costs and withholding taxes) and is expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net value during the accounting period.

<sup>(7)</sup> The trading expense ratio represents total commissions and other portfolio transaction costs expressed as an annualized percentage of daily average net asset value during the accounting period. The trading expense ratio includes, if necessary, the trading expenses from its underlying funds, as described in Article 15.2 of Regulation 81-106. Since calculating an average daily allocation of the trading expenses would take considerable effort, an average monthly allocation has been used instead for the accounting periods prior to 2016.

<sup>(8)</sup> The Fund's portfolio turnover rate indicates how actively the Fund portfolio's manager manages its portfolio investments. A portfolio turnover rate of 100% is equivalent to the Fund buying and selling all of the securities in its portfolio once in the course of the accounting period. The higher a Fund's portfolio turnover rate in an accounting period, the greater the trading costs payable by the Fund in the accounting period, and the greater the chance of an investor receiving taxable capital gains in the accounting period. There is not necessarily a relationship between a high turnover rate and the performance of a Fund.
