QUARTERLY COMMENTARY

The final month of the first quarter continued the positive trend in markets seen since the turn of the year. Almost all markets, both bond and equity saw strong returns, and for the quarter as a whole it would seem that the concerns felt in December 2018 have all but dissipated. The December collapse was driven predominantly by three factors: fears that higher interest rates would cause a premature end to U.S. economic expansion, concerns over the potential escalation of the trade war between the U.S. and China, and the potential for a broader-based slowdown in global GDP growth. The correction in December reduced the pressure on China to increase tariffs and led to a more considered approach on the part of the U.S. Federal Reserve, to the extent that the market is now betting that the next change in rates is most likely to be a cut.

With politics and economics so intertwined, there are a number of non-fundamental factors that investors have been watching closely. Brexit may be top of mind, with the already extended deadline for a deal fast approaching. The effect on the U.K. economy and markets hangs in the balance. In the U.S., the extended government shutdown came to an end, but uncertainties around trade with China, the ratification of the “new” USMCA and slowing economic growth are cause for concern.

PORTFOLIO REVIEW

The Canadian equity portfolio generated very strong returns, but slightly lagged the benchmark in the first quarter. Several of the companies in the portfolio performed very strongly in the quarter following good results. Top contributors were Restaurant Brands and Thomson Reuters, as the market rerated the company post the disposition of 55% of the financial division to Blackstone. The two main remaining divisions in the financial operations are the legal and tax divisions, and they have higher organic growth and margins. Another strong contributor was Saputo, while top detractor to performance was SNC-Lavalin. We are reviewing the overall impact of the news flow over the last few months, namely the earnings announcement in late January regarding the short-term impact of the loss related to the mining contract in Chile and the sale of 10% of SNC's 16.67% stake in Highway 407 ETR.

STRATEGY & INVESTMENT
OUTLOOK

As is often the case with predicting the path of financial markets, it is hard to argue that all of the uncertainty that abounded in late 2018 has gone away. We still cannot be sure that the more dovish tone expressed by the U.S. and Canadian central banks means that we have reached the peak of short-term interest rates.

For the most part, the global economy still looks to be in reasonable shape. However, a number of leading indicators are pointing to slower growth; a range of surveys of Purchasing Managers shows lower levels of confidence in the continuation of the current expansion, the U.S. yield curve (the difference between 3-month and 10-year rates) has inverted, and business investment is slowing. We also know that in the late stages of most economic expansions, market returns tend to be strong. Our strategy is to maintain our focus on Canada's best companies that have strong management and sustainable growth prospects.
